

March 2011 – present Assistant Art Director Hemispheres Magazine / Ink Publishing / Brooklyn, NY

At Ink, the world's largest publisher of inflight magazines, I share design duties with the Art Director for Hemispheres, the award-winning inflight magazine for United/Continental Airlines. I work in all sections of the magazine, including features, and am solely responsible for the back-of-book and the separate inflight entertainment guide Play. I work closely with editors in the formation of content, frequently commission photography and illustration and provide art direction. I am also responsible for templating the book, packaging files for prepress, scouring proofs and inputting design edits before sending the pages off to be printed.

Jan. 2008 – March 2011 Graphic Designer Ink Publishing / Brooklyn, NY

I designed across multiple titles in my first three years at Ink, contributing most to AirTran Airways' monthly Go Magazine, Midwest Airlines' bi-monthly MyMidwest, and enViva, a bi-monthly Spanish language magazine for a Mexican airline. The majority of my duties were in the front-of-book and business sections but I contributed to the mid-book and feature well regularly.

I designed pharmaceutical direct mail marketing pieces; worked on every stage of production from brainstorming to designing initial comps, to finalizing mechanicals for print.

Responsible for developing and maintaining the look of this broadly focused, award-winning monthly magazine; managed an art staff that worked closely with editorial; designed collateral materials – web graphics, posters, flyers, t-shirts, stickers, coffee sleeves, etc.

March – May 2006 Asst. Art Director Worked closely with Art Director on all visual aspects of Jerk, assigning and creating art, designing pages, and helping coordinate and assemble the annual Jerk art show.

Summers 2004 – 2006 Graphic Designer Big Designs, Inc. / Point Pleasant, NJ
